1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is too long and not a single paragraph. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).
2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The references on page 26 to "exhibits A and B" and Rule 37 CFR 1.91 are improper. The rule is in regards to physical models necessitated for an enabling disclosure of an invention, which these statements on page 26 have no bearing or relationship thereto. Cancellation is required in response to this Office action or this application will be held abandoned.

Appropriate correction is required.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

4. Claims 1-4, 35, and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) & (e) as being clearly anticipated by Padhi et al. (6,178,381).

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 43 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

These claims' preambles are directed to "seismic data point produced by" and then contain process steps. It is unclear whether these claims are directed to data points per se or the process of producing such, or a product-by-process. Any resultant seismic data per se appears no different and not distinguishable from any other seismic data once results are mapped. Therefore such "data point" cannot per se find basis for invention nor demarcation with respect to the prior art.

7. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

8. Claims 43 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter and the claimed invention lacks patentable utility.

Claims to data per se are not statutory subject matter under 35 U.S.C. 101.

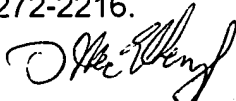

The claimed invention is directed to subject matter which is equivalent to printed matter and other non-functional descriptive material which fails to fall under a category of patentable subject matter. See MPEP 2106, which covers computer implemented inventions and the manner in which they may be claimed and find statutory basis. Note also the Examination Guidelines for Computer-Related Inventions ("Guidelines") referenced therein.

9. Claims 15-34, 38-42 stand allowed.
10. Claims 5-14, 36 and 37 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
11. Berryhill (5,544,126) is cited of background interest.
